As you use this manual to conceptualize, design and build your own projects, we authorize and do anticipate you will make and share single copies of limited excerpts with your colleagues, clients or contractors, consistent with both the spirit of U.S. copyright law and its fair use stipulations \(section 107\) that apply to librarians and educators. However this limited authorization does not include making second-generation copies in any form. Furthermore, the authors request that, if you quote or cite this unpublished draft in your own publications, you kindly do so only with the authors' explicit permission.
